

Amendment I Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

Just thought I would send the grand ole FCC a copy of the Amendment that they seem not have ever read. The FCC appears to be hell bent on stifling all manner of free speech. First it targets Howard Stern by citing decency infringements, and now its targeting satellite radio for what, being too successful? I see no stipulations in the amendment regarding decency or the protection of an obsolete industry. I sincerely hope that congress and the FCC will hold the first amendment above lobbyist cash or your own personal sense of morality.

Thank you for your time,

Jash Baker